Embedded Analog Modems – MT5692SMI-34 Models Recommended Replacements Models are Available

Date: December 13, 2021

I. Summary

Due to decreased market demand, MultiTech is consolidating the embedded analog modem product line. We are announcing the V.34 product line (MT5692SMI-34 models) are changing status from Active to Near-End-of-Life (NEOL) effective immediately. Replacement V.92 models are available as outlined in the table below.

The V.92 models provide the same functionality as the V.34 models with the addition of support for V.92/56K connections.

Are your customers looking to migrate their application to a cellular solution? If so, MultiTech provides devices that leverage the latest in industrial IoT cellular technology to address the needs of today's most important applications. We can help them transition from legacy network technology to the network technology that promises to carry applications through the next 20 years.
