Change Construction Or Material

Change Description

"As a continuous improvement activity Molex is implementing a design improvment to the external iPass+ HD cage. This change will not impact the form, fit, or function of the parts which customers are purchasing today. Orderable part numbers will NOT change. Change Details: 1) The base material of the bottom component of the cage will change from Silver Nickel to stainless steel. 2) The captured nut on the bottom of the cage will now be swagged onto the cage. 3) The size of the polarization key on the bottom of the cage will be made larger to inprove the robustness. Samples produced from the Shanghai plant will be available in December of 2015. A date code and plant code marking provides traceability for this change."
