Description for Product Change Notification

As part of the ongoing improvement process, both the design and material of the HEAVYCON COM panel mounting base housings are being changed. The material is being updated from polyamide to polycarbonate. Also, the external dimensions of the panel-mount base will be slightly altered, though they will not impact intermateability with existing housings. These changes will all improve the rigidity of the connector housing. Furthermore, both the CE logo and the UKCA logo have been molded into the plastic body.
