| Description of Change :                    | Molex is adding a second source for the FlexiBend boot used on 106260 cable assemblies. The change is being implemented due to increased demand of the component. Molex will validate that there is no impact to form, fit, or function, and that the new parts are drop in replacements for the existing parts. |                     |        |
